

CS2OSD Tutorial 6: Architecture

November 17, 2009

Draw a design architecture of a stock management system for a retailer: the system provides facilities for staff to check and modify stock levels, to reorder from wholesalers, to add, remove and modify products, and warn the user if stock levels of particular items fall below a set limit.

Show the modules of the system and their dependencies, and the major subsystems.